

Classic's Commitment to Our Community

As a Silver Sponsor of East Cooper Habitat for Humanity® and their recent building efforts on McAdams Court, Classic had the pleasure of participating in the construction on a new home. The results generated smiles on the faces of our team as well as the soon to be new home owner, Terri Naguib and her daughter Elizabeth.

We were a perfect match for this project, and worked in conjunction with the Realtors Housing Opportunity Fund, which Classic has been a member of for a year. As such we found our niche and were able to provide the dramatic results that Habitat and Ms. Naguib were hoping for.

In order to maximize our contributions, we divided our efforts between two days. On the first day, our designers and administrative departments donned their tool belts, swung their hammers and still came home with all their fingers. The following week, our field team roared into action and framed the home. Whether digging a ditch, toting lumber or framing up the entire wall and roof system, a true sense of accomplishment was felt by all.

To be a part of organizations such as these that foster, encourage and successfully promote the American dream of homeownership, is something that we have vowed to continue as a company and promote as a community.
